Silicon Valley Golf Courses

The Valley boasts a full range of top flight golf courses, including the Coyote Creek Golf Club, a Jack Nicklaus signature course, and Cinnabar Hills Golf Club (voted the best golf course in Silicon Valley by Metro readers.) There are also excellent 18-hole courses at Eagle Ridge Golf Club, Shoreline Golf course, Stanford University Golf course, and Sunnyvale's Sunken Gardens.

CINNABAR HILLS GOLF CLUB

Peacefully tucked in and around the hills, a short drive south of fast-paced Silicon Valley, Cinnabar Hills Golf Club blends championship-caliber golf with spectacular views. San Jose's first public course to open in 30 years was designed by award-winning architect John Harbottle III. Each hole has been crafted to maintain the natural slope of the area and to protect the wildlife residing here. Hundreds of old oaks were incorporated into the layout and seedlings from those oaks were nurtured and planted to further enhance the landscape. Inspiring the golf club's logo, red-tail hawks can be seen flying over the course or even perched in a tree. Named for the rich, red ore mined here during the 1800's, Cinnabar Hills offers golfers three distinct nines: the Canyon, the Lake and the Mountain. Golf Course also includes chipping and putting areas. Lessons are available for private and Semi-Private. 23600 McKean Road in San Jose, (408) 323-5200

COYOTE CREEK GOLF CLUB

Drawing inspiration from the land's natural contours, Jack Nicklaus has designed the Tournament Course to reward every skill level and to take advantage of the picturesque terrain. The par-72 course plays 7,027 yards from the tips, but has five tee positions on each hole to accommodate all golfing abilities. A series of four lakes and two waterfalls acts as a centerpiece for the final holes. The club now offers two full 18 hole courses. One Coyote Creek Golf Drive in San Jose, (408) 463-1400
